Cookware and Culinary Shops in Melbourne

In Melbourne

I am in Australia for the first time! What a lovely country, with sweet people. I fell in love with the country and its people

And while visiting the very nice town of Melbourne, I did as usual, by visiting the culinary shops

Map

Most of those culinary shops are located close to one another

In the downtown

There is always something interesting to discover in culinary and cookware shops... that's just my weakness...

This store has excellent products, and the employees are very helpful

Books for Cooks (librairie)

And here is a bookstore full of cooking books... the Books for Cooks (website <https://www.booksforcooks.com.au>). A goldmine for cookbook lovers. However, I was very disappointed with one employee. This guy with a beard was obviously not willing to help me, and I found him quite rude to me. Here's my advice : When one doesn't like his job, it's time to consider changing careers.

Very nice store, clean, with good products, and nice employees, although the store is not too big
They have a small books section with really good quality professional books
